

Acting studio returns to Murphy

Murphy – After a successful first visit to Murphy last spring, The Company Acting Studio will return Friday to conduct a three-hour workshop for young actors ages 7-12 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. An afternoon session for teens will be held from 2-5 p.m. Parents are invited for a question-and-answer session with Longo at the end of each session.

Murphy School of Dance will once again be hosting the workshop.

Executive directors Lisina Longo and John Stoneburner provide a fun, dynamic and information packed workshop. Their direct approach to the technique and craft of acting combines solid skills with honest feedback in a professional setting to produce incredible results.

Many aspiring stars of stage and screen travel from all over the Southeast to study with the highly regarded acting coaches.

They can boast students who have secured roles on Broadway, in television series, professional theatre and in major motion pictures.

With the studio's reputation spreading, Longo has recently begun acquiring contracts with major motion picture productions and travels to actual movie sets to coach young actors while working.
